

SOCIETY PEOPLE AND EVENTS

By MISS E. NELLIE BECK.

Telephone No. 669.

A QUESTION THAT ELECTRIFIED.
Frederick S. Tallmadge, president of the New York chapter of the Sons of the Revolution, at a recent dinner of the society talked about children's questions, says the Salt Lake Tribune. "Indeed," he said, "I have more than once seen the ingenious and simple question of a child electrify a whole roomful of languid people as a cannon shot would do."

"Such a question I once heard asked in a crowded parlor by a little boy of seven years, a charming little fellow in a blue velvet suit.
"Mamma," he piped, in his high, clear voice, that was audible to the remotest corner—"mamma, tell me, why does papa always scold nurse when you're there, and play hide-and-seek with her when you're absent?"—Mobile Register.

MR. AND MRS. MARION REED ENTERTAIN.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Marion Reed pleasantly entertained at euchre Friday evening in honor of Mrs. G. D. Beck of Atlanta, and Mrs. Hallmark of Pensacola.

The pretty prizes were won by Mrs. A. Pinckney Waites and Eugene Burroughs.

Dainty refreshments, consisting of cakes, ices and bonbons, were served. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. B. Marion Reed, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Grother, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Westcott, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Waites, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lucy, Mr. and Mrs. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. George Hallmark, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Burroughs, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Allen, Miss Hallmark, Miss Putnam, Miss Mona Harris, Messrs. Elzey, Hedd and Donadson.—Times-Union.

THE MISSES DUNCAN ENTERTAIN UNIQUELY.

Miss Maude, Miss Mayme Willis and Miss Essie Duncan of 722 North 7th avenue, entertained twenty-six of their friends last evening with a very pretty and unique progressive George Washington party that contributed to the unlimited merriment and pleasure of all concerned.

The attractive hostesses, dressed in "Liberty" costumes, received their guests in the hall, and from that moment the pleasure of each arrival began.

The decorations were various greens, flags and union jacks. Each of the small tables was covered with a flag, while the place cards were hatched. The score was kept by stringing little flags on a large ring.
There were various interesting progressive contests one of which created immense fun. Each guest was supplied with a little hatchet and a pin and led to a room where a big cherry tree partly chopped around the trunk occupied the center, then blindfolded and told that the one who came nearest chopping the right place and then sticking a pin there, would get a prize.

After the games, refreshments consisting of salad and dessert courses when the evening's colonial pleasures, wound up with a Virginia reel in which all engaged.

MRS. ABERCROMBIE'S LOVELY CARD PARTY FOR THE U. D. C.

Mrs. J. E. Abercrombie, ex-president of Pensacola Chapter, gave a delightful card party Thursday afternoon for the benefit of the U. D. C.

There were seven tables of six hand euchre and the interest was one of the fine features of the function.

The first prize, a pretty French gray silver clock went to Mrs. M. E. Batts, and the second, a lovely Rookwood vase went to Mrs. L. S. Brown, while Mrs. Simpson Reese captured "the other."

The attractive rooms were further beautified by holly.

Mrs. Abercrombie was gracefully assisted by her predecessor in the presidential chair, Miss Mary Wittich, while her lovely young daughter, Miss Leila Abercrombie received the guests at the door.

Miss Ada Hilton Green, Miss Emily Jones, Miss Alberta Hyer and Miss Cary Abercrombie scored, and the guests pronounce it one of the loveliest affairs of the season, and all united in expressions of real pleasure at seeing the hostess quite recovered and looking unusually well.

MISS ESMOND'S PROGRESSIVE FLINCH.

Miss Alma Esmond entertained a few friends with an enjoyable Progressive Washington flinch Wednesday night in the lovely home of Mrs. Frank Marston 1402 North 12th avenue.

The rooms were gay with flags and the national colors, while the palms and ferns were interspersed by miniature cherry trees, all in red jardiniere, placed at intervals about the rooms.

There were four tables and the score cards were little red hatchets tied with red, white and blue ribbons.

Miss Florence Marston daintily scored for the girls and Miss Esmond for the gentlemen.

Miss Flossie Boyer won the first prize a portrait of George Washington in a gilt frame.

Miss Georgia Boyer, Mr. Gillis and Mr. Mowbray tied with the lowest score and Miss Boyer won the cut, for which she received a hatchet tied with red, white and blue ribbons.

After the merry games a charming service of bonbons and light refreshments closed a very enjoyable evening.

Miss Lucy B. Wilson of Mobile, who has many friends won during former visits, is the guest of the Misses Ward.

Miss Myrtle McFadden of Natchez, La., who is visiting friends and relatives in this city, leaves today for Georgia to the regret of her friends who expected her to remain for Mardi Gras.

Mrs. E. O. Saltmarsh will give a card party Saturday afternoon for Miss Clyde Raney of Tallahassee, who is visiting Mrs. Evelyn C. Maxwell.

The regular Wednesday night euchre and dance in the Progress Club rooms was enjoyable as usual. The euchre first prize a cut glass dish was captured by Mrs. Isaacs and the second, also a cut glass piece went to Mrs. Joe Roth.

Dr. and Mrs. Thigpen are removing to the residence of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. White where they will be pleasantly settled in a day or two.

Mrs. W. S. Keyser has returned from a visit in Mobile.

Mrs. S. R. Mallory Kennedy and son Tom returned Thursday morning from New Orleans.

Mrs. E. Mead Wilson's many friends are glad to know that she has entirely recovered from what threatened to be an attack of grippe. Happily Mr. Wilson returned Sunday night from Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Downing and two children of Brewton, Ala., arrived yesterday to spend a few days visiting relatives and are guests of Mrs. A. Ferrari and family.

The Journal's Daily Fashion Feature.

A dainty matinee of White Chin a silk of French mulle, trimmed with thread insertion. It is held in at the waist behind by a strap of the same material.

A Perfect Nose.

Nothing is more rare than a really perfect nose—that is, one which unites harmony of form, correctness of proportion and proper affinity with the other features.

The following are, according to the rules of art, the conditions requisite to the beauty of this organ:

The nose should have the same length as the forehead and have a slight depression at its root. From its root to its extremity it should follow a perfectly straight line, and come exactly over the center of the upper lip.

The bridge of the nose, parallel on both sides, should be a little wider in the center. The tip should be neither too thin nor too fleshy, and its lower outline neither narrow nor too wide. The lobes must be gracefully defined by a slight depression. Seen sideways, the lowest part of the nose will have but a third of its total length.

Programmes Worth Fortunes.
London players often grumble at the mere slips of paper, sometimes sold for as much as sixpence, that constitute the programmes of most of the theaters in the great city; but, from the theatrical speculator's point of view, these same printed sheets form a most valuable asset. It is estimated that £30,000 worth of advertisements alone appear every year on these programmes and that a gross profit of quite £50,000 a year is made out of the aggregate lot of programmes. In many cases sums of from £1,000 to £3,000 are paid for the right to farm out the programmes.—London Globe.

The English Husband.

A poor woman in a London parish was consulting me in connection with her domestic troubles, and there was some doubt as to whether her marriage was a legal one, inasmuch as her "husband" (as she had just discovered) appeared to have a wife living from whom he had separated. The woman's pathetic inquiry was, "If he is not my husband, what right has he to knock me about?"—A Clergyman in London Spectator.

Nature's Sweet Restorer.

Blessings on him who invented sleep, the mantle that covers all human thoughts, the food that appeases hunger, the drink that quenches thirst, the fire that warms, the cold that moderates heat and, lastly, the general coin that purchases all things, the balance and weight that equals the shepherd with the king and the simple with the wise.—Cervantes.

A Blemish.

Mrs. Newrich (in art store)—I'd take this picture, but some person has been scribbling on it. Salesman—But, madam, that is the artist's signature. Mrs. Newrich—Well, he's got his nerve. Still, I guess you could scratch it out, couldn't you?—Puck.

Voices.

All long known objects, even a mere window fastening or a particular door latch, have sounds which are a sort of recognized voice to us—a voice that will thrill and awaken when it has been used to touch deep lying chords.

An Obstinate Family.

Cholmondey—I thought you intended to marry Miss Weatherington? Dolmondey—I thought so, too; but her family objected. Cholmondey—What did Miss Weatherington say? Dolmondey—Oh, she's one of the family, you know.

MIDNIGHT

ASSASSIN

FIRE FOUR SHOTS IN ATTEMPT TO MURDER YOUNG WOMAN IN HER BED.

Gainesville, Ga., Feb. 23.—Miss Jessie Lawrence was shot at four times by an unknown person while in bed at her father's home on High street early yesterday morning.

The shots were fired through a window, one entering the mattress beneath the young lady and the other three striking the walls.

The first shot awakened the young woman and she raised up slightly. In another moment a second shot was fired, and the young lady pulled the bed clothes tightly around her body and rolled over on the floor. Two other shots were fired immediately, but the would-be assassin's aim was poor, and Miss Lawrence was not hit.

The entire police force and the sheriff were soon on the scene, but as the young bloodhounds would not follow the trail the officers could not follow him up. A search is being prosecuted to-day, but no clue has been secured.

A Nerve Trying Ordeal.

Some years ago the students at the Japanese Naval academy were accustomed to attend an annual banquet. They sat at a circular table around a slowly revolving cannon loaded with a ball and trained to the level of their heads. The trigger was so arranged that it could be touched from a hidden source outside of the banquet hall. That at some time during the banquet the cannon would be fired every one at the table knew, but just when or in what direction it would be pointing was a mystery.

Of course there was a possibility that the ball might crash harmlessly between the heads of two banqueters, but it was equally probable that it might carry off the head of some student. Yet no one flinched. The chances were equal to all.

The picturesque object of destruction revolving during the joyful hours of the banquet, pointing from student to student and ready at any given moment to blow any one of them to pieces, was considered in Japan admirable training to steady the nerves of a fighting man.—Success.
